

Do I Require a Referral?

More often than not, insurance companies will require that you get a referral for physical therapy. You will need to bring your referral letter with you for your first appointment. Medicare will often require that the patient visit their doctor every 30 days for their therapy to continue.